Interesting Report of an Interview with the President—Southern Estimate of Northern Sentiment.

[From the Atlanta Intelligencer, Oct. 27.]

We had the pleasure of a visit in our sanctum yesterday from Judge O. A. Lochrane, who has just returned from a Northern tour. We were pleased to find the Judge in excellent spirits, and hopeful of our early restoration to peace and prosperity. He found in the North, and at Washington, great liberality of sentiment in the minds of the people, and a general disposition to let bygones be bygones. The radicals, of course, he found bitter in their denunciations of the administration, and the conciliatory policy it had observed toward the South, Judge Lochrane had a long and satisfactory interview with the President, in which the present unfortunate condition of the country was freely discussed. He found the Chief Executive kindly disposed toward us, and determined to stem the current that seeks to overwhelm this unhappy section in ruin. He thinks we have much to hope for at the hands of Mr. Johnson, and it becomes us, as a people, to sustain him and his administration fully, manfully, and with a zeal that knows no abatement.

The Judge speaks in the most exalted terms of President Johnson and of his magnanimity and justice; he is satisfied that his sole and patriotic purpose is to restore the Union and to establish, upon a firmer and broader basis, the principles of free government in this land.—He throws his soul and heart into the question of pacification, and expects the whole South with unanimity to rally around the policy of justice and equality in the States, which he so impartially and firmly maintains, and to come up manfully to the guarantees of protection and law which the condition of the freedmen demands. The Judge speaks of the kindly sentiments of the Northern people, generally; their desire to forget the past, and to make every overture of friendship and sympathy to our people. They have prospered while we have suffered, and now with capital they propose aiding our fortunes, and lifting us by the hand to a level with themselves. Many capitalists have furnished means to Southern planters to carry on their planting interest, and await the development of the future to be reimbursed. In fact, he knows many instances where the liberality of the North will be felt in its advancement of the industrial as well as commercial interests, and the statesmanship of the country sees the necessity of stimulating our cotton products, and will, in the halls of Congress, be felt in advocacy of leaving to our State Legislatures the adoption of laws, consistent with the Constitution, controlling the labor of the country by protecting contracts from violation, and idleness and vagrancy from the eleemosynary impunity it now has.

He speaks of the great growth of the Northwest, their teeming population and overflowing prosperity, and how little injury the war had done to them, and stated his impression of our soon being made to share their confidence by the adoption of just and liberal principles of legislation. The North insists that the freedmen shall have legal rights, and these we must give without question. He must have protection, and this the law must provide. On the negro suffrage question, he believed the Free States, both North and West, are gradually yielding to the President's policy of leaving this matter to the States to settle for themselves, and a more conservative spirit is now prevailing and widening day by day. He alluded to the impression that he had favored this doctrine, an impression wholly erroneous. He had never for a moment entertained such an idea, and regreeted that he had been charged with it. On the whole, the Judge gives us a hopeful view of the condition of the country and its future prospects, and believes that we will soon return to civil law, and have the Freedmen's Bureau and military rule lifted from us; and in this opinion not only himself, but the best men of the North, agreed that the day is not far distant when we may be left to govern ourselves.

Gen. Green on the Stump.

Ac ording to the reporter of the Columbus (Miss.) Index, that erudite but eccentric genius, Gen. D. M. Green, thus spoke at a recent political meeting at Moore's Bluff:

Gen'lemen and Fellow-Citizens:—I'm a candit—candit for Curiner—candit for curiner of your county. I was brought out by my neighbors. Some of 'em hollered at me over the fence tother day as I was feedin' my chickens—says they, Green—Gineral, says they, thar's a good many fellers cumin out for office, now why don't you run for sumthin? The darkies, says they is all free now, you'd better run for Curiner—plenty cases of starvation, freezin and suiside.—From that I begin to scratch my head on it, so, I says to myself, says I, "Green, old boy, you've had a long, rough road of it through life, quit plowin and mawlin rails now and commence doin a little brain work, git a fat office and live hereafter on the good will of the suvrins. [Applause.] So I cum out. Thar's five runin agin for the same office—but they ain't here feller-citizens—whur is they? Why ain't they here advocatin of thar claims afore you? I think I smell a rat in it, gen'lemen—they're 'fraid to tork to you. I luv to work—I luv fat hogs, I luv to see the corn-fields of progress a growin in the prary lands of Amerikin liberty. [Immense applause.] I foreseed this late war a cumin on and I was opposed to the North recrutin' by forrin' emigration. And you see, neighbers, what things is cum to now. [Prolonged applause.] That's a bundle of trash I've got on hand (pat's a package of Confed. in an emphatic manner); three thousand dollars—sold my corn for it just before the surrender. That's my fix gen'lemen. My hogs is gitten poor liven on water and akerns. I'm worried out a livin on hopes myself—give me fifty bushels of corn and I won't run for Curiner. (Here a decidedly sympathetic sensation was visible in the audience.) I don't think they can find anything agin my character—my neighbers call me a honest, hard working old feller. (Voice from the crowd desires to know something about "rotten wood.") Who says I hauled rotten wood to town and sold it for sound? He tells a lie! When I haul wood I git the best dry pine and good oak and hickory, and my loads was always heavy on the best par of horses. (Here the General entered into a philosophical analysis of the properties good and rotten wood, whose technical nature forbids both memory and desire from recording.) But I'm gittin off the pint. I must close up. I'm hungry and patriotic. I want office. If you vote for me I'll be elected; if you don't vote for me I won't be elected. I ain't particular what the other candits is arter, but as for me, give me fifty bushels of corn or give me the curinership of this county."

The General, says the reporter, closed his remarks amid tumultuous applause.

A New York correspondent of Philadelphia paper says: 'An 'Anti-Matrimonial Society' is about to be organized in this city by the gentlemen. Its object is to reduce the habits of extravagance now so prevalent among the ladies, and the members of the society pledge themselves not to mary until the ladies "come down."

It is stated that Garibald recently caused two of his horses to be sold at the public market in Genoa. King Victor Emmanuel having learned what was going to occur, gave orders to purchase the two animals, which brought 3,000f., and then offered them as a present to the General. This latter, however, positively refused to receive them.

A petition is being circulated for the pardon of Gov. Vance.

Wirz to be Hung.

We have received information of the fact that the President has approved the sentence passed upon Henry Wirz, the keeper of Andersonville prison. The commission found him guilty of the offences charged in the indictment and sentenced him to be hung. The order has been issued and he will be executed to day.

A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.

We notice in our Richmond exchanges that a "National Express Company" has been formed, and Gen. Joseph E. Johnston elected President. The election of Gen. Johnston to an honorable and lucrative position, will thrill every Southern heart with joy. But the grand feature is a glorious move towards re construction,—and that is, that no man shall be appointed to any office in the company unless he shall have belonged to one army or the other. The stockholders are composed of both Northern and Southern gentlemen of enterprise, and by a tacit understanding the officers of the company South, are selected from the U. S Army, and those South, from the Confederate army. This really looks like a breaking up of the stormy elements and to our mental vision is the rainbow of promise. So mote it be.

THE RESULT.

We publish all the returns received up to the hour of going to press and they are not sufficient to determine the result; except so far as the County Officers are concerned.

GOOD NEWSPAPERS.

Without derogating from the claims of others, we cannot refrain from expressing our unqualified admiration for the Richmond Times and Petersburg Index. Everything about both is gotten up elegantly. The Index is the largest sized daily among our Exchanges; both are printed on good paper, well impressed and with very few typograpical errors. They are both very readable; the Index is edited with very great skill. Another advantage is their cheapness. The Times costs $8 and the Index $6 per annum and proportioned for shorter periods.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Honolulu Advertiser, of the 30th September, publishes the names of ninety-five whaling vessels, mostly American, which have been destroyed by the Shenandoah. Thirty-three had been bonded or burned. The United States steamer Saranac was in quest of the pirate

The fifty dollar counterfeit greenback is such a successful piece of workmanship that about a dozen copies of it have been paid over the counter at the Treasury. General Spinner acknowledges himself puzzled to distinguish good from bad in this case.

The government has received $8,400 for postage due from Charleston before the war.

A second great fire has occurred at Constantinople, on a spot near to that which suffered so severely by the fire of September 6. The last fire began at five in the morning of the 5th of Oct. and was only subdued in the afternoon, after destroyed above a thousand houses and shops.

A Paris medical paper states that the cholera remains stationary. The Emperor visited the Hotel Dieu to satisfy himself that proper care was taken of the patients.

The cholera has almost entirely disappeared from Madrid.

Garibaldi has declined a nomination to the Italian Parliament, [illegible] quietly entitled.

We have the pleasure to announce that Capt. John J. Guthrie, late of the confederate navy, and previously lieutenant in the U. S. N., has been pardoned by President Johnson. He is the first Navy officer pardoned.

A man named Thayer, foreman of the stonecutters engaged in the construction of the bridge across the Susquehannah at Perryville, was discharged lately. He went to his room packed one of his trunks, and gave directions to his room-mate to pack the other, and send them to his family. He then disappeared and was seen no more until the morning of the next day, when he was found hanging quite dead, with his knees but a few inches above the floor, and his feet resting on it.

Captain C F Hall, the Arctic Explorer, has been heard from again. He was at Repulse Bay Aug. 20th. He hopes to find some of the surviving members of Sir John Franklin's party.

Intelligence has been received that Admiral Denman, the British naval commander in the Pacific, has been ordered to send cruisers after the Shenandoah, who are to capture her, if met with.

The speaker of the Senate of the Mississppi Legislature is Gen. Gholson, who lost an arm and was shot through the body while in the Confederate service.

The Buffalo Courier, the mouth piece, in Western New York, of the Van Buren Democracy for the assumption and payment of the rebel debt, quietly trusting its party to slaughter the Federal debt. It says:

"We vote for the Union and the payment of the war debt of both the South and the North."

Orr's majority over Wade Hampton for Governor of S. C. is about 500. Gov. Perry has been elected U. S. Senator for the long term.

The negro rebellion is still progressing in Jamaica.

A young man named Robert Liggett, son of Philip Liggett, who had been in the Confederate army in McNeil's Rangers, was shot and killed near Harrisonburg on Monday night last. The particulars have not transpired.

It is rumored in Washington that President Johnson will appoint a new cabinet in December: Reverdy Johnson will be Secretary of State; Gen. McClellan, Secretary of War; Gen Dix, Secretary of the Navy, and a distinguished Southern gentleman Attorney General.

An old gentleman remarked the other day that in 1776 we went to war on account of the stamp act, and got the nigger; while in 1861 we went to war about the nigger and got the stamp act.

New York, Nov. 6. Flour declined five to ten cents. Wheat declined one to three cents. Corn unchanged. Beef steady. Pork heavy. Whiskey closed firm. Sugar quiet. Cotton had a declining tendency—sales thousand bales at fifty five to fifty six cents. Naval stores steady.

New York, Nov. 7. Cotton has declined from one to two cents. Fifteen hundred bales were sold to-day at 54 a 55 cents. Flour has advanced 5 to 10 cents. The sales to-day amounted to 9,500 barrels. Wheat has advanced 1 to 2 cents. Corn is avancing. Beef steady. Pork buoyant. Lard firm. Whiskey firm at $2 39. Sugar firm. Coffee quiet. Naval stores quiet. Gold 47 cts. premium.

Washington, Nov 7. A delegation of ladies from Baltimore waited on the President to-day and presented a mammoth memorial asking the release and pardon of Mr Davis.

Three ladies of Sumter, South Casolina, were called to account by the Provost Marshal recently, for wearing Confederate flags at a party. They were sharply rebuked, and settled the matter by a written apology.

A girl near Caen, was cutting a slice of bread for her father, holding the loaf pressed against her chest, when the knife slipped through it, and penetrating her heart caused instant death.

A Frenchman cannot pronounce "ship." The word sounds "sheep" in his mouth. Seeing an iron-clad, he said to a boy: "Ish dish a war sheep?" "No," replied the boy "it's a ram."

A Cairo paper says that at the hanging of two negroes in that city, "everything passed off pleasantly." No doubt the negroes "passed off very pleasantly.

Provissonal Gov. Parsons, of Alabama, had an interview with the President on Thursday, in which he strongly urged the abolishment of the Freedmen's Bureau in his State, as the cause of their local troubles.

The Washington Chronicle has the following paragraph:

In the North Carolina convention, while the Hon. B. F. Moore was factious haranguing the house against the telegram of President Johnson forbidding the assumption of the State rebel war debt, the flag-staff upon the capitol broke, and fell upon the roof with a thundering shock that startled the convention, and was accepted as an omen. Rallying against the moral impression of the accident, Moore found the hardihood to exclaim: "Yes, Mr. Chairman, when North Carolina submits to dictation, that flag staff ought to fall!"

Some years ago, Senator Borland, of Arkansas, in reply to a challenge sent by the Hon. T. B. Flournoy, said that he was "sufficiently shot at in the war with Mexico to satisfy the ambition of any man." It is hoped that all who have participated [illegible] equally satisfied.

Wirz has not yet been informed of the finding in his case, and is very impatient to hear the result. He has written to his counsel, Mr. Schade, begging him to come to see him and relieve him of the suspense he is under, asserting that his anxiety will kill him if he is not informed soon. He says that he expects he is to be hung, but he wants to know it and prepare for it. Rev. Father Boyle, of St. Peter's church, Capitol Hill, calls frequently to see him, and converses with him upon his spiritual interests. Wirz talks rather cheerfully, and seems pleased when any of the officers listen to him. He continues to spend much of his time in reading German works, with which he is supplied by his counsel.

At the Philadelphia fair for the benefit of the Soldiers and Sailors' Home the manuscript will of Gen. Washington was sold to Mr. Jay Cooke for $1,000.

Lord Palmerston was buried privately on the 20th ult.

PEE JUST SAM.—We've all heard of the many "inteligent contrabands" which have found their way into the Union lines at different times. Our attention has been called to one who recenty came in and found his way to General Grant's headquarters, whereupon the following colloquy ensued:

"What's your name?"

"My Name's Sam."

"Sam what?"

No, sah; not Sam Watt. I'se just Sam."

"What's your other name?"

"I'se got no odder name, sah. I'se Sam—that's all."

"What's your master's name?"

"I'se got no massa now; massa runed away. Yah! yah! I'se a free niggner now."

"Well, what is your father's and mother's name?"

"I'se got none, sah; nebber had none, I'se just Sam—nobody else."

Have not you any brothers and sisters?"

"No, sah, never had none. No brudder, no sister, no fadder, no mudder, no massa—nothing but Sam. When you see Sam you see all dere is of de family.
